CONCEPT NOTE

The COVID-19 pandemic has dramatically changed education, with the distinctive need for e-learning and continuance of teaching-learning over remote and digital platforms. The incorporation of information communication technology in education has already been on a high growth even before the pandemic. However, the sudden closure of educational institutions in many parts of the world has brought a certain urgency to adopt online teaching-learning strategies, which are likely to continue even post-COVID-19. Hence, the teaching community needs to evolve, more than ever, an innovative approach to equip themselves with the skills necessary for creating a holistic learning environment in this unprecedented context.

In the contemporary world of modern education and knowledge, a teacher is not only a source of knowledge-creation but also the instrument required to sharpen the intellect of students. Education has changed over time to meet the progressive world. The education system has been reconstructing its focal variables, namely teaching, learning, institution, and knowledge. Teaching and learning have shifted to create a phenomenological space, where the symbiotic relationship between the teacher and the student blossoms at a level that goes beyond mere cognition and thought. It transcends to explore the meaning of life, invoking the true inner calling and creating an environment for creative expression and experimentation. Likewise, terms like institution and knowledge now seek to establish systems of learning beyond the four walls of buildings, encompassing more than physical infrastructure, and information gathering and processing. Systems that ignite the drive to address the problems of the society create collaborative learning, attitude to acquire futuristic skills and an orientation to become self-reliant. Essentially, this amounts to redefine the time and space of education, respectively, from time spent in covering the syllabus and physical infrastructure to create an environment. This means expanding and broadening the cognitive faculty of students and empowering them to conceptualise phenomena for applications for the greater good of society. In this context, space means the combined mental landscape of the teacher and the taught, which is governed by the canons of inquisitiveness, enquiry, critical thinking, and non-conventional problem-solving.
