Q.1. With the story as your reference discuss the situation of young carefree boy of fourteen caught in the expectations of his elders and the personal circumstances of his life.

Ans:- Phatik's mother always overlooked facts. She believed whatever the smaller of the two children said. Makhan had an effective tactic of convincing her. Instead of in intermingling the other side of the truth from Phatik, she termed him a liar. She never understood it was mostly Makhan who lied, it was he who lies and plots that always won over Phatik's innocence and the fury that developed out of his helplessness and loneliness. She kept on saying that Phatik was a perpetual nuisance, lazy, disobedient and wild. She was proud to say that Makhan was as good as gold, as quiet as a lamb, and very fond of reading etc. A boy in his fourteen is neither.

ornamental, nor useful
There is no point showering affection on him as on a little boy.
He always get in the way. It he talks with a childish lisp. he is called a baby. and if he answers in a grown-up way. he is called impertinent. in fact any talk all from him is resentful.
Then he is at the unattractive, growing age. He grows out of his clothes with indecent haste, his voice grows hoarse and breaks and quavers: his face grows suddenly angrier and un-sightly It is easy to excuse the shortcomings of early childhood.
But it is hard to tolerate even unavoidable lapses in a boy of fourteen. The lad himself becomes painfully self-conscious when he talks with elderly people.
He is either unduly forward, or else so unduly shy that he appears ashamed of his very existence
